OkQ: getIntent() method has not access to resources in android I have two activities. First activity calls second activity and one method of the second activity is to return a boolean value. I want to get that value when user back from second activity and from first activity. I have used following code.

Intent
returnValue = new Intent();
returnValue.putExtra("return_value", true);
setResult(RESULT_OK,returnValue);
finish();
```

Now I want to get that value from first activity and that is I have tried the following code:

if(getIntent().hasExtra("return_value")){ if(
```

```
getIntent().getBooleanExtra("return_value", false))}

Aryson Access Database Repair is a database recovery tool that makes the recovery of corrupted database files on your computer a breeze. This tool does this by extracting the contents of the database files, restoring their damaged parts and saves them on your PC. It is also a cross platform application so you can use it on Windows or Mac without having to make any changes in the source code. During the extraction process it tries to find the corrupted parts of the database files and looks for the specific types of data in them. It is not possible to recover all of the data in every database file, however the application can recover large quantities of data that could be of a great help in fixing it. We are focusing on the features that help you recover data from MDB and ACCDB files
